G-20 farce means "Doomsday"

17th November 2008

Lyndon LaRouche declared on 16th November that Saturday's G-20 farce brings us that much closer to Hell. "The fact that the meeting was held was bad. Everything around it was bad," LaRouche stated bluntly. "The system is disintegrating now. It is gone, and unless there is a change in direction, we face Hell on earth for generations to come. And so far, everyone is saying, 'We are not going to do anything about it.' If they play by those rules, it means Doomsday," he said.

"This Bush farce achieved nothing," LaRouche continued. "The most likely outcome is that the farce will now trigger, in the immediate hours ahead, the next explosive phase of the already-pending general collapse of the entire global system.

"There are indications, already, that such a crash has begun, in early reports from the Persian Gulf. The risk of a major collapse of as many as 25 per cent of all the existing hedge funds is also very real, and imminent, as the deadline passes for investors to withdraw their funds."

LaRouche concluded, "The G-20 performance, which some saw as the Swan Song for George W. Bush, actually was tantamount to collectively kissing civilisation goodbye."

In response, CEC National Secretary Craig Isherwood attacked Kevin Rudd's spoiling role at the G-20 Summit, who backed British PM Gordon Brown's IMF dictatorship agenda, against a genuine New Bretton Woods reorganisation.

"Prime Minister Rudd has done a grave disservice to Australia, and the world," Mr Isherwood charged. "His unholy alliance with Bush and Brown headed off any action on the derivatives bubble which is killing the world economy.

"Rudd's sabotage of the G-20 Summit, was in total disregard for his own nation's extreme vulnerability to the chaos in world production triggered by the collapse of China," Mr Isherwood said.

In direct opposition to this suicidal agenda, Lyndon LaRouche is bringing together leading figures within the "Four Powers"—the U.S., China, Russia and India—who are increasingly committed to a real solution, and could collectively overpower the British doomsday plan. Craig Isherwood urged all Australians to tune in to watch Lyndon LaRouche's International Webcast, which will make that solution clear, on 19th November at www.larouchepac.com.
