CEC testimony to Murray-Darling Inquiry: Government has forfeited the right to exist!

The following text will be read to the Griffith meeting of the Murray-Darling Inquiry convened by Federal MP Tony Windsor, barring any attempt to disallow CEC's remarks onto the record.

Good morning. My name is Glen Isherwood, I represent the Citizens Electoral Council. The Citizens Electoral Council is an Independent Political Party that represents thousands of farmers and concerned citizens, from all over Australia.

I would like to establish four main points, which I shall simply state right now, that have been elaborated in quite some detail in our New Citizen newspaper, which was also our submission to the Inquiry.

Number one: The entire so-called "science" of "eco-systems", of "river health", and of "wetlands" on which this so-called Basin reform is based, is just plain quackery. It has no more reality to it than the fraud of so-called "climate change", which is now widely discredited. Any honest duck would be ashamed of this "wetlands" nonsense.

Number two: As is acknowledged by everyone concerned, this entire process of cutting water to agriculture in the Basin, has been 100% directed by a supra-national body; the Ramsar Convention on Wetlands. Ramsar was founded by and is just a front for the world's two major so-called "environmental" lobbies, the World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF) and the International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources (IUCN). Both of these are provably British Imperial bodies, dedicated to the preservation of the still-existing British Empire, and to the looting and destruction of any sovereign nations—in this case Australia.

Number three: All environmentalism in the post-World War II period was founded by leading figures of the British Eugenics Society, and its various fronts. Thus, the openly stated purpose of the WWF and the IUCN, and their clones here in Australia, such as the Australian Conservation Foundation and the Wentworth Group of Concerned Scientists, is so-called "population reduction", namely, genocide. That is the purpose of these so-called "water reforms" in the Basin!

Number Four: It is the Citizens Electoral Council's view, that all of the so-called science, premised on arguments of 'conserving' eco-systems in a 'natural' state, independent of all human activity, as is pushed under Ramsar, and which forms the environmental objectives of the Water Act, is both impossible, and actually destructive.

Rather, the Citizens Electoral Council are of the firm conviction, that human beings, through their natural intervention into the biosphere, as is exemplified through the construction of dams and irrigation, can improve the biosphere allowing it to support more and more life.

Contrary to the environmentalist ideology, human creativity can improve nature, where nature itself never could. While we have not mastered the ability to prevent droughts, and floods, we have the knowledge and creativity to live with them, to mitigate them, and to continually increase our mastery of nature, for the good of both mankind, and the biosphere as a whole.

In light of this, Mr. Chairman, I, on behalf of the Citizens Electoral Council, recommend the following several actions be taken up by all the Committee members of this Inquiry, and by all members of the Australian Parliament:

First: Repeal the 2007 Water Act.

Second: Put in place a Farm Debt Moratorium, and Protective Measures for Homeowners, along the lines of what the Citizens Electoral Council has called for in draft legislation, titled the Productive Industries and Farms Domestic Debt Moratorium, Amelioration, and Restructuring Bill 1994 and The Homeowners and Bank Protection Bill 2008.

And Thirdly: Rebuild the Physical Economy of Australia, with a national government-owned bank like the original Commonwealth Bank, that can extend credit at low interest rates, to farmers and other productive industries, to finance the rebuilding and upgrading of our nation's infrastructure. This must also include new large scale infrastructure projects such as the Clarence River Scheme and the long overdue Bradfield Scheme.

To conclude, Mr Chairman, I would like to quote New South Wales Premier Jack Lang:

"The one God-given, inalienable right of man, is the right to live.

If man or woman is denied the right to work, they still retain the right to live.

The Government that fails to realise that, has forfeited the right to exist."

Thankyou.

The verdict is in – it's quackery!

Isherwood declares “War of National Liberation against the British Empire”

As our nation today faces a threat to its very existence both from floods and the ongoing global financial collapse, CEC National Secretary Craig Isherwood delivered an extraordinary Address to the Nation on 15th January, in which he called for a fight to the finish against the cause of that threat—the still-existing British Empire.

“If we are to recover and rebuild from these floods, and if we are to survive the present global financial collapse, we must launch a war of national liberation against what ‘old Labor’ used to attack as the ‘Money Power’, but which is more rightfully called by its real name: the British Empire,” Mr Isherwood declared at the outset.

His speech itself constituted a comprehensive indictment of the two major policies which the British Empire has wielded to ravage Australia over the past several decades: free trade and environmentalism. “These two blights on humanity were created by the British Empire and they are still run by the British Empire. They have annihilated Australia’s manufacturing and agricultural industries and looted the nation’s infrastructure through privatisation, deregulation, grossly inadequate maintenance and the suppression of important projects, to the extent that Australia was stripped of defences against these devastating floods.”

Mr Isherwood called for launching an immediate program of National Reconstruction to rebuild from the floods—and to rebuild much better than before.

This would cost at least tens of billions and probably hundreds of billions of dollars, he said, which must be funded by a national credit bank modelled on the old Commonwealth Bank as founded by King O’Malley in 1911. The issue is the extension of public credit on behalf of the nation’s physical economy, versus the tyranny of private finance through the Reserve Bank and the private banks, he emphasised. Kowtowing to the British Crown and the City of London, neither PM Gillard, nor Queensland Premier Anna Bligh, nor any of the “major” parties, including the Greens, have presently shown the slightest intention to actually carry out any significant reconstruction. “But”, he warned, “if we are to survive as a civilised nation, we must do this, even though the Money Power, the British Empire, will erupt in fits of rug-chewing if Australia actually acted for the Common Good.

“Therefore,” Mr Isherwood continued, “tonight I am launching a ‘War of National Liberation’, to free Australia from this destructive parasite which has fed on us, drowned us, infected us, seduced us and conned us, long enough.”

The Address to the Nation covers:

- The two kinds of sweeping legislative reforms, international and national, needed to address the crisis: a global Glass-Steagall as called for by American statesman and physical economist Lyndon H. LaRouche, Jr., modelled on U.S. President Franklin Roosevelt’s financial regulations that pulled the U.S. and the world out of the Great Depression, and the CEC’s Commonwealth National Credit Bank Bill 1994 for a new government-owned national bank for Australia, and Homeowners and Bank Protection Bill 2008 for an urgently-needed debt moratorium which is the only way save Australia’s family farms. Both are drafted, and ready to implement.

- Australia’s true history in the fight against the British, most of which has been suppressed in standard accounts, including the precise nature of the British Empire in its modern form.
- The British invention of “environmentalism”, the pseudo-science quackery created by the British eugenics lobby to enforce a policy of international genocide.
- As an example of environmentalist genocide, Mr Isherwood outlined the destruction of the Murray-Darling Basin food bowl under the direct supervision of Prince Philip’s Ramsar Convention on Wetlands, a process aided and abetted by the Prince Philip-founded Australian Conservation Foundation and the WWF-created Wentworth Group of Concerned Scientists, acting in conspiracy with Australia’s private banks.
- An inspiring picture of what can be done to develop Australia.

Mr Isherwood concluded, “That is why we have launched this ‘War of Liberation against the British Empire’. Because without a fight we will never become a sovereign nation—we will never fulfil the dreams for which so many noble Australians before us fought. We will never achieve the destiny handed to us by history, in this great island-continent in the Southern Seas. And that is the fight that, tonight, I ask you to join.”

Media notes CEC’s influence

The Strewh column in The Australian of January 14 ran an interesting choice of quotation from the CEC’s recent media release on Tony Abbott’s dam proposal. “[T]he ever-refreshing Citizens Electoral Council—the only organisation we’re aware of that routinely puts the British royal family and the word “genocidal” in the same sentence—has done what it can, pondering aloud whether the Opposition Leader has seen the light amid the floods with his pro-dam talk and aligned himself with the CEC: ‘Has Tony Abbott joined the fight, or is he being cynically opportunistic? He’d better be prepared to fight, because it isn’t a few feral greenies stopping dams, it’s the very British Crown to whom he is so loyal, namely Prince Philip himself, and the organisations he created to impose green fascism on Australia: the World Wide Fund for Nature, the Australian Conservation Foundation and the WWF’s Wentworth Group of Concerned Scientists.’”

To compare the CEC’s record to that of the growing chorus of leaders, including PM Julia Gillard, who claim that nobody could have seen this crisis coming.
